The Private Journal of Joseph John Gurney (1788-1847) from 1808 to 1847 occupied fifteen volumes. A copy of it was made, apparently in 1851 for Samuel Gurney (1786-1856), and this transcript was used by Joseph Bevan Braithwaite (1818-1905) for his Memoirs of Joseph John Gurney (1854): it was among the papers of his daughter Catherine L. Braithwaite (1864-1957) and on her death was given to the Library of the Society of Friends, London. The transcript occupies four volumes and appears to be complete, except that volume 13 of the original (1837-1840) is not included at all.

This microfilm is of volume 13 of the original Private Journal of Joseph John Gurney. The manuscript is in the possession of Mr Quintin E. Gurney of Bawdeswell Hall, Norfolk, and should not be reproduced without his permission.
