

The committee to inform Julia R. Carpenter of her reception into membership with us, reported, that they had attended to the service. The committee named to make the usual inquiries in regard to the proposed marriage of Helen C. Coale, and Henry Lewis, reported, that they found no objection to their proceeding with their marriage.

The committee appointed to inform Mary Register Davis of her reception into membership with us, reported, the duty had been complied with.

The pastoral committee submitted the following report, which was read and approved.

For Baltimore, since our report in Third mo. last, we have little of special interest to note in connection with this particular Meeting. We have had interesting and profitable Meetings, and the attendance has usually been quite satisfactory. We think an increased interest in our mid-week meetings is apparent, as also an increased freedom on the part of some in the exercise of spiritual gifts for the edification of all, and we would encourage all of our members, who can do so, to attend regularly, and share in the blessings and privileges of these meetings.

At Federal Hill, the attendance of the meetings has averaged about the same, as during the previous three months, but is now beginning to fall off a little, as usual with the approach of warm weather.

The life and interest appear to be well sustained, especially among the young people. Those who professed their faith in Christ a few months ago, seem to be steadfast. The meeting at Leake, has been visited a few times by members of Baltimore Meeting, and at least, once by a member of our Leest Monthly Meeting. Their members are hopefully looking forward to an increase in attendance and interest during the summer months.

The Washington Meeting, has been visited a few times by members of this meeting and others. Owing to the expected absence of most of their members during the
