

II mo.
1891.

to our notice. There is still a great need of more teachers.

The Girls Sewing School, on Seventh days has an average attendance of over 200, and is working nicely, but more teachers are needed.

The Federal Hill First day School, has been held regularly through out the past year, with an average attendance of 125.

An afternoon session is also held, except during the summer.

The Adult Bible Class, on First day morning, taught by Joseph P. Elliott, has an average attendance of 13 men, and is greatly enjoyed by them. This school is supported mainly by the Federal Hill members themselves: the weekly contributions of the scholars go to Foreign Missions, and amounted last year to $57.⁴⁹. $5⁰⁰ to Maryland Sunday School Union.

The Household School for girls, has an average attendance 48 girls, and 3 regular teachers. All kinds of household work, including cooking are taught. The girls are much interested, new scholars are coming in, and more teachers are needed.

II mo.
1891.

The Free Kindergarten has an enrolment of 44 little ones from the very poorest homes, with two regular teachers. A good lunch is given to the children at noon, and habits of order, neatness, and courtesy are formed in the children, as well as imparting to them the usual instruction. A wonderful improvement is manifest.

The Young Folks Union of Federal Hill has a meeting on the last Second day of the month, at which they have some kind of literary exercises, such as debates, declamations, and essays. All meetings are opened with Scripture reading. The reading room is open every Second day night.

The Temperance Committee, report four public addresses in First day afternoons, one public lecture, and magic lantern exhibition at Cutaw st. Meeting House.

About 450 tracts, and 100 temperance papers have been distributed, and some of our members are engaged in publishing a monthly temperance paper called the