

VI mo.
1893

another forewoman of a first class dress-making establishment, and many standing in stores.

The interest in the Young Women's Fellowship Union has been well sustained, five meetings having been held, with an average attendance of 20. The Children's Union under their care have held meetings regularly twice a month, and while a larger attendance was desired, yet much interest was manifested. A new branch of their work, started this winter, is the visiting of the sick every month, by a volunteer committee, who carry flowers or fruit, and whose visits seem to have been greatly appreciated.

Meetings for Colored Christian Workers were held once a month during the winter, in the lower room of the Meeting House, with a small attendance, caused partly by wet weather nearly every night. Some good was accomplished, and they desired the continuance of the meetings the coming winter.

VI mo.
1893.

Very interesting reports from the Household School and Free Kindergarten held on the premises of Light st. Mission, but not under our care, were read for our information. The Federal Hill First day School is regularly held, and is in good condition, but a full report is deferred to the close of the year.

Respectfully submitted,
Charles J. Leary
Secretary.

Report of Washington Committee.

The following satisfactory report was read.
Washington, D.C. 6. 3. 1893.
To Baltimore Monthly Meeting of Friends.

Dear friends,

The committee appointed in 4th mo. "to promote the accommodation and comfort of the meeting in Washington" was duly organized on 4th mo. 30th, by appointing James C. Underhill chairman, H. Virgil Easterling, Treasurer, and Robert B. Warder, Secretary.

Arrangements were made for stated meetings once in three months.